But why is he the actual God?

1:44pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by JordanB

What part of their brains are effected

1:44pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Marissa

How "small" is the damage in the area effected?

1:45pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Diego85

How could that part of the brain get effected

1:45pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Jared

Is it possible to use 100% of your brain

1:47pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Jared

How do they feel their missing limbs?

1:47pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Joseph

How does he still feel his arm?

1:48pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Kaitlyn

How can he still feel the arm there

1:48pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Marissa

phantom limbs related to the humonculus

1:48pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by g

How can he cure the pain without having the arm?

1:48pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Mez

Can he feel pain in his arm? If so what area is actually hurting?

Can they make a fake arm that can fill the void

1:49pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Jared

Why do amputees still feel the sensation of their lost limb?

1:50pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Zariyah

What if your missing an ear or an eye? Would your brain still think it's there?

1:50pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by JordanB

sorta

1:50pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by g

Why does he feel it in another spot?

1:51pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Joseph

remember the brain is hardwired with places for the stimulus to come in...

1:51pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by g

If your touching his face how can he feel it on his arm

1:51pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by marissa

So is he used to touching that part of his face with the hand when he had it but he still feels the sensation

1:52pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Jared

If one has a cyst on the brain, and it's been growing since birth it connects all the nerve through the cyst is it dangerous to remove the c

1:53pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Beltran

So another part of the body compensates for their missing limb?

1:53pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Marissa

Cyst*

1:53pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Beltran

I would assume there would be difficulty removing the cyst

1:53pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by g

If you still had both arms but stopped using one for a long time would the same thing happen

1:53pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Mez

Are all brains the same by the face and hand "sensors" by each other?

1:54pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Diego85

yes

1:55pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by g

What if you were born without a limb and it wasn't amputated, would your brain still think it's there even though it's never been there

not exactly as both arms would still 'feel' stuff and still send info

1:55pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by g

Maybe; there were no signals tho; sensation requires awareness

1:56pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by g

Why do they feel that pain in the missing part of the body

1:57pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Kevin

Is the mirror box a very good way of fixing the pain

1:57pm, Fri, Jan 27, 2017 by Jared

How does the brain get tricked by the ,irror
